

DEMOCRATIC CONFABS HELD IN WASHINGTON

NATIONAL COMMITTEE, HOUSE AND SENATE LEADERS HOLD MEETINGS AS WELL AS CABINET.

HARMONY IS KEYNOTE

Kern Named Senate Leader Without Opposition And Clark Is Willing to Be Candidate for Speaker.

Washington, March 5.—Business was combined with pleasure at the meeting of the democratic national committee here today. The meeting was called by William F. McCombs, national chairman who later was given a testimonial luncheon by the members of the committee in recognition of his services in leading the victorious campaign over plans for continuing during the next four years the details of the organization perfected during the campaign, questions of future policy and the personnel of its executive force.

The prospect that Mr. McCombs might be selected as ambassador to France caused some speculation about his successor as chairman of the committee, but in view of the absence of any definite announcement as to his future it was merely in the state of gossip.

House Democrats Meet. Democratic members of the majority will shape legislation on the tariff and other important measures assembled here for the first time today not in formal session, as part of the new congress, but in caucus to organize for the work of the coming session.

The first meeting of the new democrats brought out the marked change in personnel which came into effect yesterday noon. The caucus met to designate the democratic membership of the new ways and means committee which undoubtedly will be the same as that of the last congress, with the exception of three retiring members.

The tariff bills also were passed upon to be by the democratic caucus before they are submitted to the new house.

Republican Caucus. Republican senators also held a caucus during the morning and selected as their chairman and floor leader Gallinger, of New Hampshire. They authorized Senator Gallinger to select a committee on committees which will have charge of filling the republican places. There was no opposition to the seniority rule.

Senator Kenyon of Iowa, was chosen secretary of the republican caucus. Senator La Follette was present at the republican gathering, but Senators Bristow, Poindexter and Clapp did not appear.

Confirm New Cabinet. With the senate meeting at noon today to confirm the President's cabinet, the new chief executive held his first conference with his official family today.

A new chair was placed in position around the long table in the room in which the cabinet of the past have deliberated. This was intended for the occupancy of Wm. B. Wilson of Pennsylvania as secretary of the department of labor. Mr. Wilson stepped from a seat in the house to his new chair.

From present appearances the cabinet council of the new president promises to be a friendly and harmonious one. Many of them have long been strikers in the fight for the supremacy of the democratic party.

Kern New Leader. When the democrats of the new senate met in caucus today to elect a chairman there was no opposition to Senator John W. Kern, of Indiana, as the new leader. Senator Martin of Virginia, who retired as democratic leader, declared a few days ago he was glad to lay down the responsibilities of his office.

The retirement of Senator Martin and the candidacy of Senator Kern ends a long struggle for control of the senate of the 62d congress between the so-called progressive democrats and the old conservative democrats. It is generally understood that there would be no move to disturb the old leaders in their committee assignments.

Blow to Job-Hunters. In the first statement he has issued from the White House since he became president, Mr. Wilson today stated that he would decline to see applicants in person at the executive office except those whom he invited.

For a few days at least President Wilson will sit behind the big mahogany desk in his private office in the chair which was used by former President Roosevelt. The chair which President Taft occupied was shipped to New Haven. Before he left the White House he ordered another for his successor exactly like the one he used, but it had not arrived today.

The Roosevelt chair is old and battered but still good for service.

The salary is $1700 annually with 10 per cent additional for each five years of service. The position is for life. The examinations will be held July 14, at Washington and San Francisco. The age limit for applicants is from 21 to 27 years.

DRUGGISTS PROTEST AT LIMITING HOURS

Madison, Wis., March 5.—About twenty-five Milwaukee druggists appeared before the committee on labor of the assembly yesterday afternoon to protest against the passage of the Walsh bill regulating the hours of labor of drug clerks. Before the hearing had been concluded the pharmacists had agreed to stand for the passage of a law that would limit the hours to 135 in two weeks with an emergency clause that will allow the clerk to work in case of the illness of the pharmacist.

Walsh Twists Druggists. Assemblyman Walsh of Milwaukee furnished entertainment for those who came to the hearing by a variety of witty questions directed at the druggists. At first Walsh opposed any arguments being offered because the bill was not noticed for hearing this week. Turned down at this point Walsh wanted to know if the druggists were going to fight the bill to be introduced regulating the sale of cocaine. At first he charged that there was a gang of druggists in Milwaukee who have been arrested for selling cocaine, but later modified his remarks. Walsh charged that the druggists had come up here secretly to smother him and his bill and that the drug clerks were over-worked.

Sol Eckstone of Milwaukee, president of the Wisconsin Pharmacy Association, opposed the measure claiming that the clerks of Milwaukee were not in favor of the bill before the committee. George A. Kester, president of the Milwaukee Pharmacy association, was opposed to the labor regulations. Walsh charged that the druggists did not want to be classed as laboring men. He said there would be scores of clerks up before the committee in favor of the bill if they were afraid they would not lose their job.

There was almost as entertaining a hearing on the Dietrich bill prohibiting bakers from working Saturday night and a part of Sunday. Mrs. M. A. B. Smith of Madison said a baker should be given at least one day to be at home with his family. The small bakers were in favor of the measure and the wholesale bakers opposed it, claiming that were such a law enacted the trade with cities outside of Milwaukee would be destroyed. The principal argument against the bill was made by M. H. Carpenter of the Carpenter Bakery of Milwaukee.

Slap at University. Senator Timothy Burke has introduced a bill to prohibit the University of Wisconsin from competing with the farmers in the sale of milk, cream and butter. There has been an increasing call for university milk and butter. Senator Burke's bill prescribes the limits to which the university can go in supplying this demand. His bill provides that "the University of Wisconsin is hereby prohibited from purchasing milk for other than experimental purposes. Any surplus creamery products of the University of Wisconsin shall be sold and disposed of to the several state institutions."

Burke's bill seeks to remove the dairy school of the university as a competitor in the local cream and butter market. The university authorities claim that they are unable to supply the demand for their products. Practically all of the butter is made by the students who come here to take the course in dairying.

INAUGURATION CROWD IN RIOTOUS EXODUS

Disturbances at Depots as 300,000 Visitors Hurry to Get Started For Home.

Washington, March 5.—The national capital with a "next morning headache" awoke today to find the streets littered with debris after the inaugural parade. Workmen already engaged in tearing down stands and decorations were virtually filtering out the debris like sand in an hour glass.

Thousands of the inaugural celebrants are already homeward bound. During the night train after train load departed south to over-flowing for the north, south, east and west. Rioteous scenes attended the exodus today. Tired and impatient travelers at the Union station rushed the thin line of police, brushing them aside and tore down the iron barred gate that led to the train shed and the long line of waiting railways coaches. Subsequent efforts to dislodge them were futile and as a result many boarded the wrong trains.

State troops and marching clubs made the station women faint in the crush, and to make matters worse the supply of drinking water, although ample, could not be freely equalized because of the law against the use of the common drinking cup. Some genius used the butt of his musket to smash in fragments the glass front of a container containing the individual paper cups and his head was followed. All were wrecked.

It was estimated that upwards of 300,000 persons witnessed the ceremony of inauguration. By tonight a greater portion of the vast crowd is expected to be on its homeward way. The railroads had prepared for the strain to which its traffic would be put and the extensive terminal yards were blocked with cars, while painting engines were held in readiness to move them.

With an army of men engaged in clearing the streets and another army leveling the decorations, stands and tearing down the national and state capitol today began to resume a normal appearance. Thousands of visitors reluctant to leave were in evidence at the White House early today hoping to get a sight of President Wilson and another curious crowd jammed the corridors of the capitol waiting for the doors of the senate gallery to open that they might witness the opening session of that body, the first of the new congress.

MEXICANS TO BLAME FOR FIGHTING NEAR DOUGLAS YESTERDAY

Reports From Scene of Conflict Show Ninth Cavalry Only Defended Itself.

Washington, March 5.—Mexican troops were responsible for the latest border fight near Douglas, Arizona, with troops of the Ninth Cavalry, by firing the first shot, according to a report today from Brigadier General Bliss, at Fort San Houston. He says Colonel Guilfoyle reported that an armed body of Mexicans moved out of Agua Prieta yesterday morning, deployed and fired a few shots at a detached post about a thousand yards south of the camp on the boundary.

An American machine gun replied with five shots and the Mexicans retired toward Agua Prieta. Colonel Guilfoyle makes no mention of any casualties, but says he has two troops with a machine gun on observation at the points where the trouble occurred. He says no cause is known for the attack as no provocation of any kind was given by the American soldiers.

General Bliss reports he has instructed Col. Guilfoyle in case of further attack not to return fire unless it is necessary to protect life on the American side.

Springfield, Ohio, March 5.—Public interest in the case of Dr. Arthur E. Smith, who is under indictment for the alleged murder of his wife, was revived today, when the case was called in court for trial. Strenuous efforts are being made by the defense to secure further delay. Dr. Smith, a member of a prominent family and a physician in good standing, was arrested on November 22 last on a charge of having poisoned his first wife, who died suddenly on March 18, 1912. The action of the physician in wedding Miss Mabel Merchant, a nurse in a local hospital, within a few months after the death of his first wife, aroused public suspicion. The remains of the dead woman were exhumed and a chemical examination made of the contents of the stomach. The result was that the physician was indicted on a charge of having caused his wife's death by administering cyanide in a cup of cocoa.

GRAY MAY BE NEXT BRITISH PREMIER

Believed That Contingencies Will Force An Early Change of Administration in England.

London, March 5.—As the session of parliament proceeds it becomes daily more evident to close observers that contingencies may force an early change of administration. The chances of office are telling heavily on Mr. Asquith and it is believed that he is only awaiting a favorable time to retire from the premiership.

The question as to who is most likely to be the next premier is now being freely discussed, notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Asquith has as yet given no outward indication that he intends to take advantage of his often expressed wish to retire.

It is an open secret that both Mr. Lloyd George and Mr. Winston Churchill are awaiting for the day when their chief finds the burden of his office too great for his years and seeks repose in the House of Lords. But factional differences may, and perhaps will prevent either of these gentlemen from realizing his ambition to succeed Mr. Asquith in the premiership. If such proves to be the case it will become necessary to cast about for someone else to take the reins of government.

In the opinion of many competent judges of the situation the only available man possessing the requisite qualities of leadership is Sir Edward Grey. There are those who confidently declare that it is only a question of time until Sir Edward becomes prime minister.

The grandson of Sir George Grey, who was several times home secretary, and the grand nephew of Earl Grey of reform bill fame, Sir Edward inherited political instincts and talent of the highest order. He had scarcely attained his majority when he became private secretary of Sir Evelyn Baring (later Lord Cromer), and he acted in the same capacity to Mr. Childers at the time the latter was chancellor of the exchequer. Entering parliament at the age of twenty-three years, he made some stir at an early period of his career by his independence on the question of Irish land purchase.

He was only thirty when Mr. Gladstone appointed him, in 1892, under secretary for foreign affairs. As his chief was in the House of Lords, his position was important, and it became particularly delicate when Lord Rosebery succeeded to the premiership. Sir Edward Grey had to expound a policy with which it was suspected Lord Rosebery's principal colleague did not always sympathize. He did the work which then fell to his hand with courage as well as with propriety. Later, during the period of Liberal opposition, he came strongly to the front as a critic of the foreign policy of the Balfour administration.

Although his style is restrained, Sir Edward's speeches are nearly always impressive and effective. Once he was announced to address a meeting of northern miners who were keen radicals. Instead of giving them a slashing harangue Sir Edward spoke calmly on foreign affairs, yet his manner was such that his audience listened with deep interest.

AERIAL FIREWORKS PLAYED THEIR PART IN WILSON'S INAUGURATION

Washington, March 5.—Aerial fireworks, with the sweeping, wide-ranging rays of many searchlights revealing the outlines of the white dome of the capitol and other historic buildings, made Washington a scene of beauty and brilliancy in the closing inauguration festivities last night.

Never, it is said, has so brilliant a display of fireworks or an illumination of such magnitude been attempted. Large searchlights threw their rays along the avenues and on public buildings, while at the Monument grounds the crashing of thousands of aerial bombs and the flaming light from large set pieces illuminated the sky. But it was not alone a

It Was a "Get Together" Affair, According to Col. Bryan, Who Emphasized Harmony Among the Members.

Cabinet Members Arrive. The members of the new cabinet arrived with President Wilson was talking with Mr. Crane.

Mr. Bryan was the center of a group as soon as he set foot on the executive offices.

"Well," he said, "I suppose I won't have any trouble getting in here today, such as I had many years ago when I was in congress. I did not know the rules then and I called after four o'clock in the afternoon. I did not tell the door-keeper who I was and I was coldly informed that no visitors were received after four o'clock."

Taft Cabinet Resigns. President Wilson's first official act was to acknowledge receipt of the resignation of the Taft cabinet and all the assistant secretaries of the various departments.

Though the assistant secretaries will not detach themselves immediately, their places will be filled with new men within a short time.

When Mr. Bryan quit the cabinet meeting he went to the state department where he was greeted by Mr. Knox, whom he succeeds.

Then automatically he will be relieved from that detail and Major General Witherspoon, the assistant chief of staff, will act as chief until President Wilson makes a permanent designation.

James C. McReynolds, the new attorney general, spent several hours conferring with Mr. Wickersham at the department of justice.

As the new cabinet members filed out of the White House some had a word to say about the first meeting.

"Get Together" Affair. Josephus Daniels, secretary of the navy, who was the first to come and the first to leave, said: "We had a general talk. It was fine."

William Jennings Bryan smilingly said: "It was a get-together affair and we all got well acquainted."

"Everything went just as smooth as oil," remarked Albert S. Burleson, new postmaster general.

"It was an informal, inspiring meeting," declared William G. McAdoo, the new secretary of the treasury.

"The cabinet meeting was a happy, harmonious, agreeable affair and it showed that every man had red corpuscles in his veins," said Franklin K. Lane, the new secretary of the interior.

Wilson Rises Early. President Wilson had arisen early today and breakfasted in the private dining room of the White House with Mrs. Wilson and their daughters. Shortly after nine o'clock he had left the mansion and walked through the passage way in the bright sunshine of one of Washington's spring days to his office to take up the business of the nation.

President Wilson's first visitors in his office today were some folks from New Jersey. In five taxi cabs about 30 of them descended upon the executive offices to witness the swearing in of Joseph P. Tumulty as secretary to the president. President Wilson came into the room just as Secretary Tumulty had taken the oath.

"You look just the same as president as you look when you were governor," remarked state Senator J. Warren Davis, with whom Mr. Wilson was intimately identified in accomplishing corporation reform in New Jersey. The president replied that he felt just the same and was feeling fine.

Standard Oil Company Offers Substitute For Gasoline Caled Motor Spirit.

One of the important items to be considered by an auto owner is the rising price of gasoline. In fact this is a problem with every user of a gasoline engine. Rock county has many such engines, owned and operated throughout the farmers' districts, as well as the numerous autos which are being utilized by farmers and citizens alike in transacting their business. According to Ree L. Parker in the Chicago Tribune, on the heels of an announcement by the New York section of the Society of Automobile engineers calling a meeting of its members to discuss ways and means of reducing the high cost of motor fuels, the Standard Oil company yesterday made public the fact that a substitute for gasoline had been discovered after a year's experiments. It also was announced that the new product, which will be called motor spirit, will be marketed by the company immediately.

Motor spirit will cost 3 cents a gallon less than gasoline and will furnish, it is asserted, 25 percent more mileage.

The new fuel is an additional by-product of petroleum. It was discovered by W. M. Burton and patents for the process of manufacture were granted the first of the year. The spirit has a greater range of boiling points than gasoline. This, it is said, will allow a motor to be started as easily, or more easily with the new fuel than with gasoline.

Increases Output of Fuel.
By the discovery of the spirit the output of fuel, for gasoline engines from a given amount of crude petroleum is declared to be practically doubled. This it is believed will tend to prevent any rise in the price of gasoline.

Motor spirit resembles gasoline closely except it is yellow in color and has a pungent odor. The company intends it for use in motor trucks and stationary engines, but its cheapness is expected to encourage its use in pleasure cars, notwithstanding there are several discouraging features from the standpoint of pleasure car owners.

Chief of these is the exhaust of a car which employs the spirit as a fuel is a white smoke similar in appearance to that caused by an excess of oil.

Had Threatened Gasoline Supply.
The great consumption of gasoline by motors has been threatening the available supply for some time, and has been advanced as the chief reason for increasing the price of gasoline.

The new fuel has been under test by the Standard Oil company for several weeks, and its efficiency, it is declared has been proved satisfactory to the company's engineers.

NEW EIGHT HOUR LAW AFFECTS POSTOFFICE

Readjustments Will Have to be Made at Janesville Postoffice to Conform to New Ruling.

Readjustments of an extensive nature will have to be made at the Janesville postoffice in order to conform to the letter of the Reilly eight hour bill, which went into effect yesterday according to Postmaster Valentine. A new schedule of hours for office clerks and carriers will have to be made out which will not be an easy matter as the hours in which the mail arrives are so scattered. The bulk of the mail from the south, east and west arrives about six o'clock in the morning and the clerks who distribute it will be obliged to quit work early in the afternoon. Four mails arrive about seven o'clock in the evening, a delivery is made in the collection part of town at 4 p. m. and a collection made from several boxes between six and seven o'clock in the evening.

The Reilly bill provides that "on and after March 4, 1913, following the passage of this act, letter carriers in city delivery service and clerks in first and second class postoffices shall be required to work not more than eight hours a day, provided that the eight hours of service shall not extend over a longer period than ten consecutive hours, and the schedule of the hours shall be regulated accordingly."

With the schedules that have been in force and the allowances of Reilly in force, it did not average more than eight hours of work a day, but to conform to the express terms of the law will inconvenience the local postoffice force because of the peculiar local conditions.

A change in the parcel post regulations that will interest druggists and grocers is one that permits any one to send sixteen ounces liquid measure in glass receptacle. The limit was formerly twelve ounces liquid measure in one glass container. As many medicines and cooking extracts are put in the sixteen ounce size, it will readily be seen that the new regulation will be of great value to those who deal in this class of merchandise.

Special rules regarding the method of packing liquids reads as follows: "The bottle must be very strong and must be inclosed in a block or tube of metal, wood, paper mache or similar material; and there must be provided between the bottle and the block or tube, a cushion of cotton, felt or other absorbent. The block or tube of wood must be at least three-sixteenths of an inch thick in its thinnest part; or if of paper mache or similar material it must be at least one-eighth of an inch thick for bottle holding two ounces or less at least five-thirty-seconds of an inch thick for bottle holding more than two ounces. The block or tube must be rendered water-tight by an application of paraffine or other suitable substances."

NO IMPORTANT MATTERS SUBMITTED TO COUNCIL.

Short Sewer Extension on Galena Street Ordered—Report of Chief of Police Filed.

Yesterday's meeting of the city council was brief and comparatively uneventful. The weights and measures ordinance was given its third and final passage. The extension of the Galena street sewer from Park street two hundred and fifty feet west was ordered on the recommendation of the Board of Public Works, and reports of the chief of police and chief of the fire department were placed in file. The chief clerk was directed to draw orders for the payment of a number of bills approved.

MAKES AN APOLOGY; MOVES A DISMISSAL

Cornelius Buckley, Attorney for Plaintiff in Damage Suit, Brings Case to a Dramatic End.

Attorney Cornelius Buckley of Beloit, counsel for the plaintiff in the case of P. H. Kull against the Beloit Traction Company brought the suit to a close in an amusing and dramatic manner in the circuit court Tuesday afternoon when he apologized for bringing such a client into court and moved for dismissal of the action. Judge Grimm complimented Mr. Buckley for taking such a step and granted his motion, in spite of the vigorous and vehement protests of the plaintiff who was removed from the courtroom by Sheriff Whipple by order of the court.

Kull, who it was evident, had fortified himself for the ordeal of the witness stand, was the first witness called in the case. He responded quite calmly to the questions of his counsel, but came near going to pieces under the sharp cross-examination of Atty. Thos. S. Nolan for the company. Mr. Nolan insisted on asking the plaintiff concerning his record in the Beloit municipal court which procedure was upheld by Judge Grimm in spite of Mr. Buckley's objections. Kull's stock answer was that he "had a good record."

It was at the juncture that Kull was becoming most excited that Mr. Buckley interposed and stepping to the front of the court room asked the court for an opportunity to give an explanation. He apologized in the first place for bringing such a client into court. He had come so to his own chagrin and financial loss, he said, and he regretted very much that the court should have witnessed such unseemly conduct coming from one of his clients. Mr. Buckley was sure the best thing to be done was to ask a dismissal of the case, and he made such a motion, although attorney for the plaintiff.

Judge Grimm complimented Mr. Buckley on his action and granted the motion. He ordered the sheriff to take Kull from the court room when he attempted to interpose, and the jury was dismissed until this afternoon.

U. B. CHURCH HAS ENJOYABLE PROGRAM

Alma May Taylor Gives Pleasing Impersonations—Local Talent Gives Musical Program.

There was a crowded house at the United Brethren church last evening, to enjoy a fine program of impersonations given by Alma May Taylor, instructor in elocution in the university of Indiana. Her interpretation of the bible character, "Hagar," her plea on parting from the patriarch Abraham, was one of the finest of her selections. Her readings of children's parts were also very clever and were among the pieces which were best appreciated by her audience.

A fine program of musical selections was given by talent of the local church. It included music by a five piece orchestra composed of Florence Roberts, Floyd Roberts, Paul Claxton, Ruth Roberts and Milton Whaley, members of the Sunday school; an instrumental duet by Floyd and Florence Roberts; a piano solo by Edith Briggs; a vocal solo by J. A. Raught, and a selection by the male quartet.

GETS FIFTEEN DAY SENTENCE FOR PROVOKING A FIGHT

John Carroll Creates a Disturbance at St. Paul Passenger Depot.

William Delaney to Jail.
John Carroll, who was placed under arrest yesterday afternoon at the St. Paul passenger station where he quarreled and tried to provoke a fight with the driver of a delivery wagon, pleaded guilty in the municipal court this morning to a charge of intoxication and was sentenced to pay a fine of $10 and costs or go to jail for fifteen days. He was unable to pay the fine. William Delaney, who remained too long in this city yesterday while on his way to Madison from Burlington, pleaded guilty to a similar charge, and in default of a fine of $2 and costs was sentenced to five days' imprisonment in the county jail. Delaney was not mixed up in the disturbance at the St. Paul depot and has not been in court here before.

MADAM! IF YOU DON'T FEEL RIGHT TAKE DELICIOUS "SYRUP OF FIGS."

WASTE-CLOGGED BOWELS, TORPID LIVER AND DECAYING FOOD IN STOMACH CAUSE THE SICK HEADACHE, GAS, BACKACHE, SALLOWNESS, BILIOUSNESS AND INDIGESTION.

All women get bilious, headachy and constipated—simply because they don't exercise enough. They don't eat coarse food, or enough fruit and green vegetables. Those are nature's ways of keeping the liver and thirty feet of bowels active; but very few women employ them. The next best way is delightful, fruity Syrup of Figs.

Nearly all ills of women can be overcome with Syrup of Figs alone. There is no need to have sick headache, backache, dizziness, stomach sour and full of gases, bilious spells, sallowness, coated tongue, bad breath, bad complexion, nervousness and depression. The surest and safest remedy is one or two teaspoonfuls of delicious Syrup of Figs. Try this tonight—you'll feel splendid in the morning when the sour bile, clogged up waste and poisonous matter have been gently but thoroughly moved on and out of your system, without nausea, griping or weakness. Your head will be clear, complexion rosy, breath sweet, stomach regulated; no more constipation, gases, pains and aches. It is simply a matter of keeping your stomach, liver and bowels clean and regular. Then you will always be well—always look and feel your best.

NOTED SPEAKERS ARE TO BE HERE SUNDAY

Special Services Will Be Held Sunday Morning at Congregational Church.

On Sunday and Monday next, the American Board Institute, under the auspices of the commissioners for foreign missions and the Woman's Board of Missions of the Interior, will be held at Beloit at the First Congregational church in that city. However, on Sunday morning at ten-thirty, S. B. Capen, L. D. of Boston, president of the American board, will speak at the Congregational church here and in the evening at seven-thirty James A. Barton, D. D. of Boston, secretary of the commissioners, will also deliver an address at the same church.

Hon. S. B. Capen, president of the American board is a business man, and one of the most prominent in our denomination for upwards of thirty years. He is deeply interested in municipal affairs and was for many years a member of the school board of Boston. He now devotes his entire time to religious and benevolent work, and will soon start on a world circumnavigating trip representing the board in India, China and Japan. His service on missionary affairs is held in the highest regard by his associates on the board and his reputation, like his associate, Dr. Barton, is international.

Rev. Jas. A. Barton, D.D., the foreign secretary of the board, is one of the prominent men of our day both as an administrator and a missionary. His experience of the vast affairs of the American Board in so many countries has made him an authority on foreign relations and diplomacy which has enabled him to render important service to our government as well as to our missionary agencies, especially relating to the east. His comprehensive mind, well supplied with information of the purpose of those missionary fields, will enable him to give the people of Janesville an exposition of foreign missions that will ring in their ears for many a day.

From other notices in the papers it will be seen that Dr. Barton will give an address on Foreign Missions and World Wide Peace in the Congregational church next Sunday evening at 7:30. This will be a union service with the Presbyterian church and any others who may find it convenient to join. It is a citizens' meeting on a theme of world wide interest and all are cordially invited to attend. President Capen will speak at the regular morning service to which also the public are welcome.

LINK AND PIN

MOTOR CARS ON BRANCH LINES OF SAINT. PAUL

The Chicago, Milwaukee and Puget Sound Railroad, which is the new name for the Milwaukee and Saint Paul railroad since the completion of the coast line, has recently placed in service on its branch lines in the state of Washington, two gas-electric motor cars. One of these is operating between Everett and Munroe; a distance of 14 miles, and makes five trips a day, totaling 70 miles; while the other runs from Seattle, via Cedar Falls to Enumclaw, a distance of 62 miles, and makes one round trip a day, covering 124 miles. The cars are a combination passenger and smoker type, with turtle back roof much like the "Scout" which the Northwestern had between Janesville and Beloit several years ago.

The generating unit is located above the floor line of the cab, where it is under the immediate observation of the engineer. It consists of an eight cylinder, four cycle gas engine of the "V" type, directly connected to a 600 volt, commutating pole, electric generator, designed to meet special conditions as service demands. The car itself is all steel, except in the case of the interior finishing, which is of mahogany.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

Janesville, Wis., March 4, 1913.
Mr. Editor: There has been a great deal said in the recall about signers being tax payers. Now who are the tax payers, are they those who stayed at home during the civil war making money, and are now paying taxes on a little 10 to 15 hundred dollar house, and holding up all improvements while 2,688,523 old and young men left their homes and families to preserve the union that they might continue to make money.

The writer of this article left a good money making business at the age of 22 and served until the end of the war, then came home and picked where he left off and continued working for the good of the city. Hoping you will give this space, I am:

Joe Rivers is having a busy time dodging matches since his stock was boosted by putting Kayo Brown to sleep on Washington's birth day. Jack Britton, Packey McFarland, and champion Johnnie Kibane are a few of those said to be after him; while Freddie Welsh is coming all the way from England with the idea in the back of his head of putting the hooks to the sturdy Mexican.

These may be pleasant days for the ballplayers, lolling about in a balmy southern climate, with nothing to do but have a good time. Yet, while contemplating this pleasant prospect, turn your eyes upon the unfortunate umpire, whose shrill of mercy grows less day by day. It is astonishing that the ump can look forward to the prospect of a baseball season of such persecution as he must endure, and survive the glance. It's a comforting thought that "someone has to do the dirty work."

There seems to be a great difference of opinion among the baseball authorities as to the "proper" time which a team should spend in training for the opening of the regular season. Some teams go six weeks and more, while others fall a fortnight behind that. In the minor leagues, ten days or less quite often is thought sufficient. One prominent authority is out with the statement that three weeks should be enough for any set of athletes to get in shape. As matters stand, it looks larger like a matter of individual preference and of good luck in getting practicable weather, with those men favoring the long and elaborate training trips having in mind

BASEBALL NOTES.
The Boston Braves' holiday games at home will be played on the American League grounds next season.
Manager Jack Dunn, of the Baltimore team, is going to let the fans pick the captain of the Orioles by popular election.

The Marquette University at Milwaukee, Wis., has decided to drop baseball and track sports for the coming year at least.

The Montgomery Club, of the Southern League, has signed twins. The twins, whose names are Frank and Ernest Henry, play the outfield.

The Pacific Coast League, American Association and Western League have arranged longer playing schedules than the major leagues.

It looks as if Joe Tinker would have to find another catcher for his Cincinnati Reds as Tom Clarke is the only first string receiver on the team.

Howard Fabey, the former Dartmouth College baseball star, is holding down the shortstop position with the Los Angeles team and is delivering the goods.

Pitcher Jimmy Lavender, of the Cubs, was twenty pounds heavier than he was last year and feels well except when he thinks of the Chicago city series last fall.

All the baseball dope from the Giants' training camp at Milin, Tex., praises the clever showing of Jim Thorpe. Here's hoping the Indian wonder will make good during the coming season.

Vernon (Skin) Isaacs, of the Dubuque Three-I League team, has decided to quit the game and to become a banker. He will do well to drop his nickname if he expects to hit .300 or better in the bankers' league.

June 3 has been decided upon as American League Championship flag day and June 25 as World's Championship flag day in Boston. Chicago will be the Red Sox, opponent on the first date and New York on the second.

As to age and years of service Gene Foster is without a doubt the oldest employee at any baseball park in the country. Gene is 76 years old and on April 17 will begin his 35th season as chief usher at the National League grounds in Boston.

WITH THE BOXERS.

Gettman promoters are trying to arrange a return match between Joe Rivers and K. O. Brown, the bout to take place in New York.

Charles Ledoux, the French bantam, has returned to this country and is seeking a muss with either Kid Williams or Johnny Coulton.

Both Ad Wolgast and Tommy Murphy claim that they should have been given the decision in their recent bout which was declared a draw.

Bob Moha, the conqueror of Cyclone Thompson, and Eddie McGoorty have signed for a ten-round bout at Milwaukee on the evening of St. Patrick's Day.

Charlie Cutler, manager of Jess Willard, announces that Luther McCarty has consented to box Willard late in March or early in April in either Philadelphia or New York.

the advertisement derived therefrom perhaps more than anything else.

The Giants have one circuit slugger in their outfit of veterans and recruits. He is Bill Johnson, candidate for an outfield job. Twice in practice recently he "fungoed" the ball over the fence at Marlin, 400 feet from the home plate. This was the first time in history the feat has been accomplished. Bill isn't the first player, however, who could shine in practice. There is not yet any talk of moving the outfield fences in the National League farther away from the home plate because of the expected advent of Bill.

Another instance of the value of a college education has just been unearthed. For years it has been the custom for leading football university teams to have a coach or two for every position on the team. Along comes Hughie Jennings now with the proposition that there be a coach for every position on a baseball team. Hughie might at least be original. Maybe before long he will suggest a manicure to care for the bat-boy's finger nails.

A salary limit of $6,000 a month has been arbitrarily saddled upon the International League by the National Association of Minor Leagues. Naturally, the clubs had to cut down on most of their contracts. To date, relatively few of the players have signed. The clubs appear to be between the devil and deep blue sea. If they come across with the money the players want, they will be fined for exceeding the limit, while if they stick by the ruling they will probably have to enter the season with their best players missing.

LIPTON CHALLENGES AMERICANS TO RACE

Royal Ulster Yacht Club Sends Challenge to New York for Series of Races in 1914.
[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

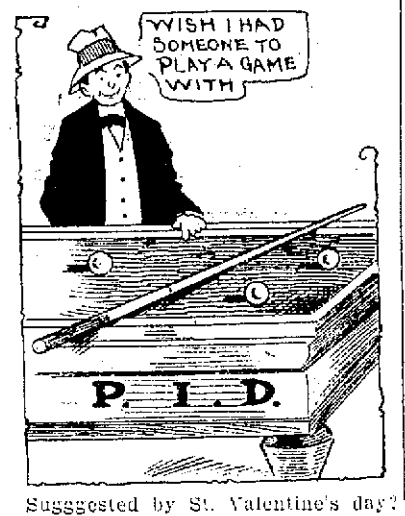

London, March 5.—A challenge sent by the Royal Ulster Yacht Club for a series of races for the America cup to take place in 1914 made on behalf of Sir Thomas Lipton, is on its way to America. It will reach New York on the Oceanic today or tomorrow.

The challenge is for competition under the old rules. Sir Thomas Lipton, who has just returned from America, when questioned today, said that there was no doubt of the acceptance of the challenge. The New York Sir Thomas Lipton expressed considerable surprise when asked about the truth of the report that challenge for the America cup had been sent to New York. He had endeavored to keep the secret until the delivery of the challenge to the New York yacht club.

"For reasons of courtesy," Sir Thomas regretted that he was compelled to withhold some of the details. He admitted, however, that his prejudice against the old "dead of gift" rules had been overcome and that he had challenged for a series of races under the old conditions.

Drew, the national sprint champion; Russell Beatty, the intercollegiate shortput champion; Ben Sherman, the former intercollegiate champion at putting the hammer; E. P. Lindberg, the great quarter-mile of the Chicago A. A.; Tom Halpin, the star Boston runner; Ben Adams, the high and broad jumper of the New York A. ## DINNER STORIES

Appropos of Lincoln's birthday and his recent brilliant analysis of Lincoln's character, Mayor Gaynor said the other day:

"Lincoln never lacked an excuse for his unwillingness to proclaim the freedom of the slaves."

"Once a delegation from New England waited upon him to urge an emancipation proclamation, but Lincoln said:

"Such a proclamation at this time would be as ineffectual as a proclamation giving freedom and the vote to horses, cattle and chickens."

"By way of illustration, let me ask you gentlemen, how many legs would a horse have if you called his tail a leg?"

"Five, Mr. President," a Boston divine answered promptly.

"No," said Lincoln, "you are mistaken, for calling a tail a leg does not make one."

Mayor Gaynor, condemning the censorship—whether of books or plays or motion-picture films—said at a dinner in New York:

"Censors are always—or practically always—foolish nuisances."

"They say that an English censor once passed a play called 'London Life.' In the third act of this play the hero, entering a restaurant, calls for a chop and a jug of musty ale. But opposite this speech the censor wrote:

"During Lent the order must be a glass of water and a plate of dry toast."

"There is no money in flying machines. That's why we don't make good ones here."

The speaker was Courtland Field Bishop, the aviation and automobile expert of New York. He continued:

"Being a commercial nation, we can't compete successfully with France (ill flying gets on a paying basis. The basis is it is now in illustration in a little story I've just heard.

"How is that monoplane of yours doing? Any money in it? one Detroit asked another.

"Any money in it? I should say so!" was the reply. "All mine, all my wife's, half my father's and three-fourths of my mother-in-law's."

It will ever remain a mystery why so many men and women like to talk about themselves when there are so many persons willing to undertake the task and do it better.

SEES A MENACE.

While the old congress has adjourned sine die and the new members of the Sixty-third are only awaiting the call for a special session, as did the Minute Men of the revolutionary days, to assemble and do their duty like yeomen, there remains some fear that certain choice bits of legislation which were advocated by the radical elements of the late session will be enacted into law.

"Legislation to accomplish an object not within the powers of the general government has been recommended by the Pujio committee. Within the past week Senator Smith, on the floor of the senate, declares himself in favor of another measure of federal interference with state affairs.

"Perhaps our national legislators have forgotten that the people, of whom they talk so much, do not pursue their common occupations of life by grace of congress, nor even of the federal constitution. These rights of ours are inalienable. State governments were formed, in part, to protect us in them.

"If English is capable of plain construction, that clause means the preservation of free commercial intercourse between the several states, without let or hindrance. It is a guarantee of equal opportunity. It is an assurance that a citizen of one state shall be free to transact legitimate business with another, in any part of the country, without discrimination or restriction.

government followed the butcher to the shambles and the baker to the oven."

"In the Federalist, Hamilton said: The propriety of a law, in a constitutional light, must always be determined by the nature of the powers upon which it is founded." The supreme court tests a state law in the same way. It has said it would declare an act of congress not to be the law of the land if, under pretext of exercising its powers, congress should pass laws for the accomplishment of an object not entrusted to the government.

"This proposed legislation is a vital menace to our form of democratic government. If permitted and upheld, there is no longer a restraint on the powers of the federal government, and our government of laws' gives place to a despotism."

THE SUFFRAGETTES.

There is a serious question in the minds of the suffragette leaders of this continent whether it was Wilson's inauguration or the suffragette parade that attracted the crowds to Washington. The suffragettes would have the world know it was their parade, while the simon pure Jeffersonian democrats insist it was Wilson's advent into office, with William Jennings Bryan's appearance as a conquering hero.

In commenting on the methods of equal suffrage agitation on both sides of the Atlantic, the Christian Science Monitor does not commit itself in favor of one side or the other, but makes the following comment on the situation. It is a bit caustic, when read between the lines and might serve a word of warning to the suffrage leaders.

"Methods adopted by the champions of equal suffrage on both sides of the Atlantic have challenged and are challenging criticism. There is a wide difference of opinion concerning them. Many who favor the extension of the franchise to women are doubtful regarding the wisdom of some of the steps taken to bring it about. Putting aside all other phases of the aggressive campaign waged by the leaders of the movement, a question of present interest is whether the appearance of representatives of the suffrage movement in the inauguration procession, or in connection with the inauguration procession, is necessary to the advancement of the cause. Two statements made by representatives of the opposing forces among the women—those for and those against suffrage—go far toward typifying the general state of public opinion on the subject. One of these declares that the demonstration made in relation to the Washington ceremonial has stirred up latent thought in regard to women's suffrage as nothing else could have done; the other contends that the demonstration will do 'absolutely no good.' Perhaps a calm and impartial view of the matter will extract from the proceeding something more satisfactory.

"Susan B. Anthony, Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Anna Dickinson, and numerous others distinguished in the past of the suffrage cause, depended almost wholly upon intellectual agitation. They wrote and lectured through more than a generation, but they accomplished no tangible results. The equal suffrage cause has been prominently before the American people for more than half a century. In the western states, where it has been made a practical political issue, the thoughts of men have been receptive and the cause has steadily gained ground. In the East—in the territory east of the Mississippi—where the theoretical rather than the practical side of the question has been pressed, it has until recently made but little headway. Who can reasonably question the present popular interest in the subject, East and West? And who can reasonably deny that this interest is due to the adoption of the more modern and more practical method of awakening public thought?"

"The demonstration of equal suffragists in connection with the inauguration ceremonies will, we think, focus public attention on the cause for which they are struggling. This will justify the method in the eyes of many. It still remains to be said, however, that, having focused public attention, the equal suffragists in this, and in all similar instances, must see to it that the publicity they are commanding is of a nature to be of advantage and not disadvantage to the movement. They have the eye of the nation, but the eye of the nation is critical."

Governor McGovern tonight has issued two thousand invitations for a grand reception at the executive mansion where he lives in bachelor splendor. Perhaps he wants the legislators to see the exact condition of the historic ruin and explain that is the reason he does not marry.

The usual number of legislative bills will meet their defeat in the committee rooms at Madison, but it is safe to say enough fool laws will be enacted to keep the supreme court overworked for some years to come.

Cabinet-makers may now take a well-earned rest. Some of the guesses were as near right as to the old problem of "How old is Ann?"

Illinois politics was injected into Washington yesterday, but from all accounts it did not avail "Hank" Lewis anything material.

There are property-owners in Janesville who make no pretense of cleaning the snow from the walks about their property, leaving it for nature to accomplish the impossible. Still they are immune from any penalties it would seem.

It was either a Wilson-Bryan inauguration yesterday or it was a Bryan-Wilson blow-off. Either way the Commoner played the important part and from all accounts received as big an ovation as did the president de facto.

Mr. Taft retired from the presidency with a smile on his lips. His smile will go a long way towards making the average true blue republican contented with the sad fate which befell him at the last election.

Washington has all the symptoms of the "morning after today," and if press dispatches are true, is mighty glad it did not have to endure an inaugural ball to top the whole affair of yesterday off with.

There is no doubt that President Wilson can make history as well as write it and with Bryan to help him some interesting chapters may be added to his exhaustive work on the American people.

Heart to Heart Talks

By JAMES A. EDGERTON

ECONOMY OF LIFE.

In every field we are teaching and practicing economy except one, and that is the most important of all.

We eliminate waste in manufacturing, but we do not eliminate waste of human beings.

We teach conservation of everything but life.

Recently a Chicago park policeman saw a ragged, hatless, coatless and almost shoeless small boy watching a squirrel burying peanuts.

"What's your name?" queried the policeman.

"Bernard Rogers," sobbed the boy. "and I'm hungry. A squirrel hid a peanut over by that tree. Can I have it if I find it?"

Most policemen have hearts, and this one was no exception. He bought the boy a bag of peanuts, which were eaten ravenously. He then took him home and afterward reported that there was not a bite to eat in the house.

This lad, if he lives, will be a future citizen. Aside from the brutal inhumanity of allowing him to starve in a land of abundance think of the unwisdom of it from a public standpoint! The pity of it is that his is only one case out of a multitude.

Of those who survive many are stunted in mind and body. Others are criminals, having learned to steal out of their dire necessity. Still others are filled with hatred against society. And who can blame them?

Is it not time to conserve the children?

This wonderful age of progress has transformed the physical world. Can it not do something for the human world?

Here is another case in point: Recently the factory commission of the state of New York examined child labor conditions. It found lots of ten years working from twelve to sixteen hours a day in cancery sheds and others even younger wearing out their baby lives in tenement work.

From the mere cold, economic standpoint can we not eliminate this waste of our future men and women? Fathers and mothers, these little ones are like your own, with the same tender bodies, the same baby faces, the same innocent ways.

How dare we look our own children in the eyes so long as we participate in the sins of society against these other children?

How dare we call ourselves civilized in the midst of such conditions? How dare we?

NOW JUDGING GRAIN AT MID-WINTER FAIR

PROF. GRABER BEGINS WORK THIS MORNING AND LECTURES THIS AFTER-NOON.

GRAIN GROWERS MEET

Rock County Experimental Society Names Officers—New President, George Hemingway, Gives an Address.

Prof. L. F. Graber, instructor in agronomy at the agricultural college, arrived in the city this morning, and began the work of judging the grain at the mid-winter fair. This afternoon he delivered an address on the advantages of sowing pure bred seed dwelling on some of the points brought out by Mr. Hemingway in his address Tuesday. He referred to the fine showing which Rock county was making in the matter of pure bred grain.

The work of judging the grain exhibit will take some time owing to the large number and excellence in quality of the entries in this department, especially the show far exceeds last year's exhibit. In addition to the competing entries in the grain department, there are a number of exhibits which every person should see who visits the fair. Among these is the world's sweepstake champion peck of rye which was shown by Noyes Raessler of Beloit at the International Grain Show at Columbia, South Carolina. It is also exhibiting the champion ten ears of silver king corn of the northern zone also shown at Columbia. Fifty ears of Golden Glow which took the honors at the Madison grain show. Alf Austin is exhibiting two hundred ears of Wisconsin No. 12 on which he took the sweepstakes at the Clinton grain show. All of these exhibits in addition to the scores of others entered in the competition are well worth the time required to inspect them.

On Thursday afternoon the address will be given by Prof. Hatch on the subject of "Agricultural Extension." Farmers are urged to make it a point to attend these lectures. At a meeting of the Rock County Experimental Association held Tuesday afternoon, officers were elected as follows: George Hemingway of Janesville, vice-president; and Noyes Raessler of Beloit, re-elected secretary-treasurer. An increase in the membership of the association from 20 to 98 was reported for the year which indicates the interest which is being taken in the work of the societies of this kind have been formed in 37 counties of the state through the influence of the state agricultural college.

Some idea of the object of the association may be gained from the address of the incoming president, Mr. Hemingway, which was delivered yesterday afternoon. He outlined the necessity of sowing pure bred grain to insure the best return from the high priced land of Rock county. He spoke as follows: "The preparation of pure bred seed grains begins when the previous crop is harvested. Then the critical time begins. First, seed must be stored in a good dry place as grain that is intended for seed must never be allowed to get into the bin. Corn must be picked and dried in a house or by the use of a drying house or by some means of artificial drying."

"Now that your seed has been stored properly another important step must be taken and that is the testing of the seed grains. This may seem to some people a minor point but allow me to say it is one of the most important steps taken in the growing of a successful crop."

"The vitality of seed cannot be known simply looking at it. It may be bright in color, very plump, and have a healthy appearance, but when put in a tester to germinate, we may be greatly surprised to find that only 60 per cent would germinate or perhaps even a smaller percent. Then by sowing two bushels to the acre we would have a very thin stand and likewise receive a small yield."

"We cannot afford to sow grain of poor germinating power on our high priced land so it becomes necessary as well as profitable to test the seed for its germinating power before sowing. This may be done by using a common seed tester composed of two tin plates and two cloth pads. Put a moist pad in one of the tin plates, sprinkle the seed on the pad and cover the same with another moist pad, placing the tin plate over the pad and keep them from drying out. Another way is to take a box and put in it one inch of moist sawdust well grained which makes a good germinator."

"We put the seed on the sawdust and cover it with a moist cloth, or a board will do, anything that will keep the seed moist. The tester is kept in a place in a warm room and kept at a temperature of 70 degrees Fahrenheit. The time required to make a germinating test is about five to six days."

"Corn may be more accurately tested by what is known as the ear test. This is by testing each ear individually, taking five kernels from each ear and test by number."

"After your seed has been tested it should be freed from all noxious weed seed, and if any smut is present it should be treated with a formaldehyde solution. This is done by the use of one pint of formaldehyde to fifty gallons of water, which is sufficient for the treating of fifty bushels. This done by dipping the grain in the solution by the use of sacks, or by sprinkling the grain and then shoveling it over, then leaving it covered with canvas for ten hours after which it is spread out and dried."

"By the selection of good seed of high germinating power and with a good seed bed, the farmer has an excellent start for a good crop, and a good start is the crop half raised."

NEW CABINET HOLDS ITS FIRST MEETING

Announcement today that he offered an ambassadorship to Chairman William McCombs of the democratic national committee.

"Mr. McCombs told me he did not wish a cabinet appointment. I offered him one of the principal diplomatic posts and hope he will accept. I desire men of cabinet size for the chief foreign appointments," said the president. It is known that the ambassadorship to France has been offered to Mr. McCombs.

Appointment Gossip.
The naming of Vice Chairman McAdoo of New York, as secretary of the treasury, members of the committee declared would not prevent him from retaining the vice presidency of the committee though it was reported he might resign.

Nearly every member of the committee was on hand when the meeting was called to order. When Mr. Bryan returned later to the White House for a short conference with the president, a friend intercepted him and urged that the name of Blaine W. Hurst of Chicago be considered for the post of minister to Denmark.

John H. Marble of California, secretary of the interstate commerce commission and formerly its attorney, will be appointed a member of the commission to succeed Franklin K. Lane, who became secretary of the interior.

President Wilson will reappoint Edgar E. Clark of Iowa, a member of the interstate commerce commission. President Wilson sent name of his cabinet to the senate today for confirmation. As the nominations left the White House it was officially announced that the list was exactly as published yesterday.

As the president's first day wore on the White House executive offices, corridors and anterooms filled with delegations and visitors. The president shook hands with many delegations. Former governor Folk of Missouri, was among the callers.

The president had as his guests at luncheon the Woodrow branch of his family cousins on his mother's side, who for dinner he expected his father's relatives.

Governor Sulzer of New York, and Governor Fiedler of New Jersey were to call late today.

After endorsing John L. Martin, of Missouri, sergeant-at-arms of many national democratic conventions, for sergeant-at-arms of the senate, the committee recessed for luncheon to meet later and call upon President Wilson at the White House and also visit the navy department to see Josephus Daniels, one of its members sworn in as secretary of the navy.

After a brief session the senate confirmed all the cabinet nominations and also that of Edgar E. Clark as United States commerce commissioner. It did not, however, confirm John H. Marble as commissioner in succession to Franklin K. Lane.

BRIEF LOCAL NEWS.

Moose Notice: Regular meeting of Janesville Lodge, No. 187 L. O. O. M. Thursday evening, March 6th at 8:00 o'clock. Nomination of officers and other business. Every Moose be present. J. W. Van Beynum, secretary.

Improvement Hangs Fire: Since the Council last summer rejected the plans for the rebuilding of the Franklin street viaduct, the Chicago & Northwestern, and Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railways, who jointly submitted them, have made no new propositions. It is believed that the rebuilding of the viaduct will not be undertaken until the new bridge across the river is completed.

Completes New Plans: City Engineer C. V. Kerch has just completed revised plans for the redecking of the Milwaukee street bridge with creosote blocks. The plans differ from the original ones in detail only, but the modifications will result in a considerable saving on the cost of material. The plans will probably be submitted to the Council at its next meeting.

Resigns Position: Miss Gertrude Callahan, a teacher in the Adams school, has been obliged to resign her position because of ill health, and left yesterday noon for her home in Menasha. Her successor has not yet been appointed. Mrs. Fern is substituting in the position. The school board was sorry to lose Miss Callahan from the faculty as she was regarded as a very efficient teacher.

Annual Meeting: The annual meeting of the Rock County Calceolae society will be held at their lodge rooms at 7:30 o'clock. Officers will be elected and other important business transacted. A smoker and social will conclude the evening.

Beat Club Meeting: Members of the Janesville Boat Club and others interested in the passage of the bill proposing that the state's share of the receipts from carp selling be devoted to the improvement of the water from which they are taken, are invited to attend the meeting to be held at the municipal court room this evening.

For forty-three years Dr. King's New Discovery has been known throughout the world as the most reliable cough remedy. Over three million bottles were used last year. Isn't this proof? It will get rid of your cough, or we will refund your money. J. J. Owens, of Allendale, S. C., writes the way hundreds of others have done: "After twenty years, I find that Dr. King's New Discovery is the best remedy for coughs and colds that I have ever used." For coughs or colds and all throat and lung troubles, it has no equal. 50c and $1.00 at Peoples Drug Store.

AERIAL FIREWORKS
IN THE INAUGURATION

House office buildings, a number of powerful electric searchlights played upon the dome of the Capitol, making the Statue of Liberty the crowning stand out as of a living figure. Peace Monument, originally intended for a fountain, was tonight performing that function for the first time since the last inaugural. Upon its waters were thrown, by several boxlights, different colored rays weirdly beautiful.

The Court of Honor, in front of the White House, was a central point of illumination last night, as it had been of activity during the day, the replica of Jefferson's home at Monticello being the chief feature of the display.

Facing the replica, a huge spotlight threw its rays on the Jeffersonian mansion, bringing its portico, columns and colonial outline into brilliant relief against the background of cedar trees, their branches studded with countless miniature electric bulbs giving the effect of thousands of fireflies winging their way through the native pines which surround Monticello.

From the time the illuminations began thousands poured through Pennsylvania avenue to witness the brilliant spectacle. But when the aerial pyrotechnic display started two hours later the great mass of humanity turned its attention to the Monument Grounds. The display opened with a flash which gave place to a bomb signal. Immediately a host of small balloons and airships floated gracefully across the sky, made brilliant by the ascent of many rockets and other illuminating devices.

Following the opening flash and bomb came the salute of 101 guns fired from steel mortars. Then came a brilliant illumination of the White House Grounds and the Monument Grounds through the ascent of bombs that, upon explosion, released fires that burned the national colors. The effect of this upon the surrounding white buildings and the Washington Monument was spectacular.

At intervals, puffs were shown that reflected against the sky the red, white and blue of the national flag either in form of a shield or the flag itself. The crowning effect of the display was the "Transformation Device," which began with a mammoth bouquet of roses that changed into an immense American flag, and then transformed into the portraits of President Wilson and Vice-President Marshall. This was by far the most elaborate piece of the entire evening and the largest aerial set piece ever attempted. It was said: "The device covered more than 2,000 square feet of space."

Just before this piece was released gigantic bombs ascended, and when they reached a great height exploded and formed in immense letters the words, "Wilson" and "Marshall." The last piece was entitled "Good Night" and "Fare You Well," which brought the display to a close.

At midnight the streets slowly lapsed into darkness. The searchlights winked one after the other and the white dome of the Capitol merged into the darkness from which it had stood out with such conspicuous brilliancy only a moment before. The slender shaft of the Washington Monument disappeared suddenly. The Peace Monument ceased its splashing and its fountain of light went out. Pennsylvania avenue merged into its usual dimly-lighted self. The illumination and the fireworks were at an end.

HAD FIFTEEN FIRES WITHIN TWO MONTHS
Chief of Fire Department H. C. Klein Submits His Quarterly Report To The City Council.

Janesville has had fifteen fires since January 1, according to the last quarterly report of H. C. Klein, Chief of the Fire Department, submitted to the City Council at its meeting yesterday afternoon. Most of these were still alarms. The report is as follows:

To The Mayor and Councilmen of the City of Janesville, Gentlemen:
I hereby submit my quarterly report as Chief Engineer of the Fire Department.

Since January 1 of the present year, the department has attended fifteen alarms of fire, the greater number of which were still alarms. All fire wagons, with the exception of the exercise wagon, are in good serviceable condition. However they could be improved in looks by being touched up in spots with paint and then varnished.

Some of the fire horses in use by the fire department are not what they should be for the service. However, this matter will be attended to in the near future.

I respectfully ask that a state automobile tag be procured for the automobile used by the department.

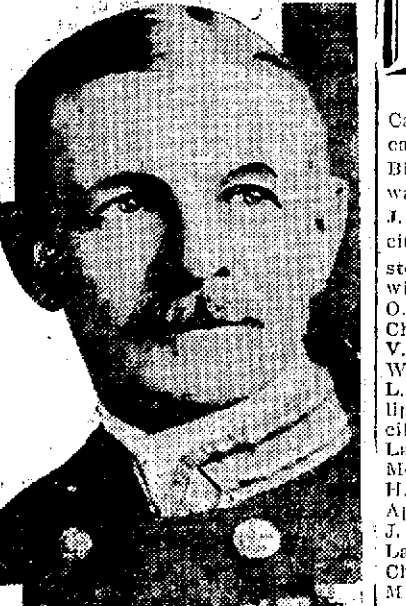

At a recent fire it was apparent that the department needed some cellar nozzles. Therefore your chief engineer ordered two of the same on trial, and would recommend that the same be purchased. The cost of the same will be $30.

Respectfully submitted,
H. C. KLEIN,
Chief Engineer, March 4, 1913.

Singing at Work.
Dr. Johnson was annoyed to find in the Hebrides that the strokes of the sickle were timed by the modulations of a song in which all the harvesters joined. In the days of the hand looms most weavers crooned over their work. Dairymaids used to sing on the milking stool, not only to lighten their labors but also because the cows were held to yield better milk when cheered by a tune.

STOMACH SOUR? GOT INDIGESTION ALSO?

"Pape's Diapepsin" Will Make Your Disordered Stomach Feel Fine in Five Minutes. Time It!

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach headache—this is indigestion.

A full case of Pape's Diapepsin costs only fifty cents and will thoroughly cure your out-of-order stomach, and leave sufficient about the house in case some one else in the family may suffer from stomach trouble or indigestion.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula plainly printed on these fifty-cent cases, then you will understand why dyspeptic trouble of all kinds must go, and why they usually relieve sour, out-of-order stomachs or indigestion in five minutes. Diapepsin is harmless and tastes like candy, though each dose contains power sufficient to digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite; but, what will please you most, is that

MIZZI IS A CUTE KITTY.

In the Hungarian language "Mizzi" means kitten. This fact little Mizzi Hajos is very keen to impress upon everyone who questions her. Miss Hajos, who contributes one of the most charming features of "The Rose Maid" in the title role is a native daughter of Hungary and her first important stage work was in that country in the role of the saucy Princess Bozena in "The Spring Maid." Later she played the same role in this country, displacing it but recently to assume her new character in its sister operetta, "The Rose Maid."

Mizzi was christened formerly with a name that corresponds with Madge, Marie or Magdalena, the weeping saint, but as she has never wept, except for laughter, and scarcely suggested a saint, even a reformed one, the playful appellation of Mizzi soon settled upon her as personal property. And what could be more appropriate for this delightful little puss than Kitty. Mizzi is supposed to play and purr and curl up like kittens and to have all the graces and the fascinations of the feline. When they are horrid and selfish or scratchy they are called just plain "cats" as over here—never "Mizzi"—which is distinctly a term of endearment. Schnitzler has a play called "The Countess Mizzi" and you will run across this pretty diminutive very frequently in Viennese, South German and Hungarian literature. There is a legend that the most beautiful woman in the world came from Vienna and Mizzi was born right across the river from this city in Budapest and this petite young lady unquestionably qualifies under this rating, and goes a long way to prove the rule. You can demonstrate by her how a woman may be beautiful even though her features do not assume a classic mold.

Fraulein Hajos just opened the impression of having happened. There are no evidences of growth or change and you have the feeling as you watch her, that she will always remain just as she is. If she could be frozen into a complete lack of expression she would still make a most delightful doll with her bisque and waxy skin, her dainty coloring and her soft, fluffy hair. But that is a miracle that will never happen. You never quite appreciate how pretty Mizzi is in a picture, because one of her chief charms is her continued change of expression.

"The Rose Maid" will be seen at the Myers theatre this evening.

"THE ONLY SON." Thos. W. Ross, who comes to the Myers theatre for a special return engagement in Winchell Smith's latest comedy drama, "The Only Son," is said to be more remarkable than a great many character offerings which has been seen here from abroad. It is said to tell a dramatic story and enjoy the big advantages of a theme. This theme, curiously enough, is identical with that which formed Mr. Smith's previous play, "The Fortune Hunter." The two plays are utterly different in story and tone, but each of them in its own way unfolds a working out of a narrative project that is in both cases essentially the same. This project—briefly—is to present in the first act a young man who has made a mess of his life and apparently is worthless, and thereafter to fling him through a series of circumstances that call forth certain inherent qualities of strength which till then have lain dormant in his nature, so that, in the end, he "made good," and emerges as a master of his circumstances and himself.

Mr. Ross has surrounded himself with a splendid company and is the same that produced the play in Chicago and New York. Among the players may be mentioned Lizzie Hudson, Collier, Ellen Errol, Gladys Harcourt, Booth Chapin, Caroline Harris, Campbell Golan, Wallace Widdowson, Henry Weaver, Osborne Searle and George Spievin.

"UNCLE TOM'S CABIN." "Uncle Tom's Cabin" will be seen at the Myers theatre, Monday, March 10, matinee and evening, and will be presented by Leon Washburn's Stetson's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" company, a company of merit.

The American public today finds greatest delight in the drama that has the big human note, that deals with elemental passions and sorrows, and that tells a gripping, vital story. It is

WEATHER CONDITIONS

The barometric depression that was in western Canada yesterday, has moved rapidly eastward and is now passing over Wisconsin and the upper Mississippi valley and the upper Lake region. It is attended by cloudy weather and somewhat warmer weather on the plains of Kansas, Nebraska and South Dakota, but is following an area of high barometer in the Canada Northwest, which is accompanied by colder weather, ten to fourteen degrees below zero.

There are no other marked disturbances, and the weather is generally fair and cool in the south and southwest.

A rare relish. You know that "Uncle Tom's Cabin" contains these elements. How often have you said: "I would like to see it played by a good company." Now is your chance. Don't forget the time, the place and the play.

THE BIGGEST MISTAKE.

"IF THINGS were to be done twice, we should all be wise,"—Ben Jonson.

There are a lot of people in this world that I am sorry for. There are the poor rich folks, who don't know how to have a real good time, and then there are the poor poor folks who never have a chance to have any; there are the hide-bound people who are so wrapped up in conventions that they don't know what life is, and there are the natural born discontented folks, who chase happiness out of their homes whenever it tries to get in. But I think of them all, there are none any more unfortunate than the folks who get the habit of fretting over mistakes.

So long as we live but one life—that is so long as we can remember but one life, I'm not so sure that we live only once—mistakes have just got to be made.

So long as we are all doing things for the first time, buying our clothes, building our homes, choosing our vocations, getting married, raising children, etc., etc., we are just naturally bound to think we could do better a second time. But, unfortunately, quite often there is no second time. And so when anyone acquires the "if only" habit and gets to brooding over how happy he might be "if only" he had chosen another profession, bought a different house, married the other girl, he's inviting unhappiness to come right into his home and be a regular boarder. And she seems to be a lady who doesn't wait for a second invitation.

One of the happiest women I know is a wife who undoubtedly chose the wrong man for a husband. If she had the "if only" habit she would be the most miserable woman in town. As it was, she resolutely put the mistake behind her as soon as she realized she had made one and now she puts a good front on everything, enjoys her children, endures her husband, and gets the very best out of her life as it is.

Mistakes have just got to be made by all of us. There's no getting around that. The only way to get ahead of them is to do as this woman did, put them behind you.

Make up your mind that you won't make the same mistake twice; that you won't rush to the other extreme and make the opposite mistake; that you won't let any mistake—well, is there any legitimate equivalent for "get your goat," because that's just what I want to say—and you will surely have a head start in the race for happiness.

Their Two Differing Viewpoints

SHE sat in her hostess' kitchen, bolt upright on a hard, kitchen chair, her face expressive of dissatisfaction of the place in which she found herself, and of disapproval of her hostess' conduct.

Her hostess, bustling about trying to seem glad at her visitor's presence, but nevertheless, grimly continuing her work.

For it was four o'clock in the afternoon, and the caller had expected of course, to be received in the parlor and be served up with a nice little dish of gossip.

But her hostess being still in the throes of a frenzy that had seized her that day, to give her house a thorough overhauling, was not going to stop in the midst of her labors to entertain company.

And so it looked as if strained relations might result from the encounter.

For the caller was one of those women who never washed windows at four o'clock in the afternoon, and so thought it perfectly scandalous for anyone else to do it.

And her hostess was one of those women who didn't keep house by formula, but according to her own sweet fancy. She didn't wash windows on Thursday, because Thursday was the day for washing windows. But she washed them when they were dirty. Had she felt like washing them on Sunday, she probably would have done it, to the unbounded horror of her respectable neighborhood.

And so being liberal in her ideas, she could see no harm in asking her caller into her kitchen, while she washed her kitchen windows.

But from the expression on the caller's face, it was easy to see a storm was brewing. She was not liberal-minded. She believed in a time and a place for everything, and everything in its time and place. Four o'clock in the afternoon was no time to wash windows, and the kitchen no place to receive callers. And her face said very plainly:

"When I call on her again, she will know it."

And so because there's lack of understanding of each other's viewpoints, or perhaps, because each thinks her viewpoint right, and that there can be no other, these two good neighbors may become slightly cool toward each other.

One, in fact, may go a little farther, and say unkind things.

For the face of the one who sat upon the kitchen chair, was not that of a woman who would be charitable toward the housekeeper who washed windows at four o'clock in the afternoon.

Fruits in Season.

When we speak of fruits in season we do not mean strawberries in January, although they are here and have been quite reasonable in price and in looks most tempting. But they come later in all their glory and the fruits of the citrus family are much to be preferred at this season of the year. Lemons, oranges and grapefruit are an essential in some form or other in the dietary during the next two months. There is scarcely any dessert, sauce, cream or custard which is not improved by one or more of these citrus fruits. The sour Seville orange makes most delicious marmalades, syrups and extracts. Combined with the grapefruit and lemon most satisfying results are obtained in marmalades, or in cooling drinks of all kinds. In Russia these oranges are considered vastly superior to lemons, and the juice is often used in place of lemon or lime juice with oil, especially in fruit salads.

Just now, while speaking of acids, the rhubarb should not be forgotten. Eat plentifully in the spring months, as the acid acts as a tonic and purifier to the system.

Rhubarb Sauce. Wash the rhubarb, cut in inch pieces and put into the double boiler. No water should be added to the rhubarb and only cook in the double boiler until tender. Add sugar to the eggs and one-fourth cup of sugar. Dust with a little sugar over the top and brown in a very moderate oven. The meringue is very attractive put on with a pastry bag and tube.

The meringue may be baked first on an inverted pie pan and then filled with the custard, which has had the well-beaten whites added to it and cooked five minutes in the double boiler. Then when cool add the meringue if desired.

Golden Jelly Marmalade. Materials—Oranges, 1 pound; grapefruit, 4 pounds; lemons, 1 pound; sugar.

Directions—Wipe, wash, and trim the fruit, cut the strips across with the scissors in tiny pieces and tie up in a piece of cheese cloth; remove all the white pith from the fruit, cut in small pieces, remove the seeds, put into the sauce pan and cover with cold water, add the chips tied in the cheese cloth; boil for one hour skimming and stirring when necessary. Take out the bag and press the pulp through the sieve; weigh liquid and chips, which should be about the original weight of the fruit and use an equal weight of sugar. Put over the fire and stir until the sugar is dissolved and boil for three minutes, or until it jellies; skim if necessary. Pour in glasses and cover with paraffine or paraffine paper. This is bright, sparkling and delicious.

The strips of fruit may be left in and not pressed through the sieve if preferred.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

CHOOSE your friends wisely. Test your friends well. True friends, like rarest gems, prove hard to find. Winter him, summer him, know your friend well.

Who dare deny the truth, there's poetry in pie. —Longfellow.

PIE, THE GREAT AMERICAN DESERT.

Pie crust is condemned as indigestible, owing in a great measure to the finished product. The materials, if rightly handled and baked, are not such a menace to the digestive powers as we are led to suppose. A light, flaky crust well baked and well masticated, is not unwholesome, if eaten not too frequently or in too large quantities. At any rate, bad or good, people will have pie, so let us make them as perfectly as possible.

The proportions for a medium rich crust are one and a half cups of flour to six tablespoons of lard, a teaspoonful of salt and a little cold water as possible when mixing. Handle quickly, always rolling the crust from you.

Orange Cream Pie. Beat together two egg yolks and a half cup of sugar, add two tablespoons of flour and one of cornstarch; cook in a pint of milk, cool and flavor with orange rind or extract, and pour into a baked crust. Beat the whites stiff, add three tablespoons of sugar and spread over the top. Bake until the meringue is brown. The mixture must be well cooked with the cornstarch before the yolks of the eggs are added.

Chocolate Pie. Melt two squares of chocolate, add a half cup of sugar, four tablespoons of cornstarch, three egg yolks, salt, vanilla. Cook all together except the egg yolks and vanilla. A pint of milk is added, then when the cornstarch is cooked stir in the eggs and cool. Flavor, pour into a baked crust and cover with a meringue made of the egg whites.

WALKING FOR WOMEN.

In walking from New York to Chicago Mrs. David Beach has proved that the common belief that a woman cannot walk as a man is incorrect. The peculiar physical troubles of women are due chiefly to lack of exercise, resulting in weakening of the muscles of the pelvic region. If every woman would learn from childhood to walk five miles a day, ten once a week and occasionally take a cross country walk of from 20 to 30 miles, these troubles would soon disappear and we would see healthier children. There are some advantages in the varied movement exercises recently given, but walking is, all things considered, the best form of exercise. One who has not been accustomed to walking should begin with a mile or two and increase gradually. The best time to walk is in the early morning. A hilly country is better than a flat and it is best to have agreeable company.

ANAEMIC PEOPLE

Need More Iron in the Blood.

If you are anemic, you need more iron in your blood, and the tell-tale symptoms are a pale face, colorless lips, ashen finger nails, poor circulation, and short breath, and more serious diseases are easily contracted when in this condition.

What Vinol did for Mrs. C. S. Marnell of San Antonio, Texas, it will do for every anemic, run-down person. She says: "I was weak and nervous, and had general debility for about three years. My health was badly run down and my complexion became sallow, and badly affected with pimples. While in this weakened condition, I contracted pleurisy which made it very hard for me. I am happy to say that Vinol has restored me to health again, and I have no more of the soreness of the lungs at all."

We ask every anemic or run-down, weak person in this vicinity to try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that their money will be returned if it does not do all we claim. Smith Drug Co., Janesville, Wis.

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS
BY MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of 18 and think very much of a nice looking boy in my class at school, but still I am thought very much of by another boy whom I do not know so well, but who is telling around that I am interested with him. (1)—What shall I do? The one I think more of has heard of this and has acted cool toward me lately.

(2)—Would it be proper to hint to a gentleman friend that I want very much to go to a basketball game. I am sure he would not care if I asked him because he is so good about such things.

(3)—Is it wrong to write notes in school? I am sure I could not endure long school hours without writing a few words each day to the boy I like.

(4)—The boy cannot think very much of you or he would not tell an untruth about you. Pay no attention to him and be as nice as you know how to the one you really like.

(5)—You might tell him that you would like to see the game. (6)—The boy won't respect you for not being able to control yourself in school.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of 17. I am going with a boy and loved him but thought he did not love me. So I went with another boy, but found out later he was not the kind of a boy for me to go with, so I stopped. I know now the first boy did love me. I feel bad about it. How can I get him back?

HENRIETTA.

Perhaps you can get some friend to tell the first boy that you turned down the second because he wasn't your kind and that you are not going with anybody now.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: We are three girls of 14 years old. (1)—If you were walking with a fellow and he kissed you without asking, what would you say to him? (2)—What would be good for blackheads and pimples? I have tried glycerine and rosewater, and nutron talrow.

To Redress Cold Pore—Lightly fry some slices of cold pork, lay them up on a bed of nicely made applesauce, cover the meat with some well-tried onions, season with pepper and salt; over the onions place some mashed potatoes and then cover with slices of bacon cut very thin. Set into good oven; when bacon is cooked the dish is ready. Set upon another dish covered with ornamented paper, serve with a dish of gravy. This makes a very good breakfast. It can be made the previous day and heated when wanted.

Kitty Cake. White part: Cream together one cup white sugar, half cup butter; add whites four eggs and half cup sweet milk. Add 2½ cups flour in which two teaspoons baking powder have been sifted. Mix all together, stir in one-fourth cup cornstarch; flavor with vanilla.

Dark part: Stir together one cup brown sugar, half cup molasses, half cup butter, yolks of four eggs, half cup sour milk, one teaspoon each ground cloves, cinnamon and mace, one grated nutmeg. Add to all 1½ cups sifted flour. After part has been stirred in add one teaspoon soda dissolved in a little milk, then the rest of the flour.

Pour a little of each batter alternately into well-buttered tins. You can make this in layer cake or half cake. Bake in a hot oven for 1½ hours to bake in moderate oven.

Fig filling for Kitty cake (use white icing on top). To one-fourth pound figs (put through the chopper) add half cup sugar and two tablespoons cornstarch. Put in double boiler and pour over gradually, stirring all the while, half cup boiling water. When well mixed add 1½ tablespoons lemon juice and grated rind of one-half orange. Cover, cook at least a half hour, stirring occasionally, until it thickens. When nearly cool put between layers.

Pimento Sandwich. One pimiento, two hard boiled eggs, small piece of boiled cottage cheese (enough for six persons); chop fine, pour over mayonnaise dressing. Cut bread in triangle shape, spread mixture on lettuce leaves and serve. Excellent for Sunday luncheons.

that have been put away for some time—hang articles in bathroom, shut the doors and windows, turn on hot water sufficient to fill room with steam and leaves clothes for an hour or two. Remove them and dry by hanging in the open air.

During cold weather when it is hard to get bread to rise over night, try putting hot water bag filled with hot water on top of bread pan after it has been carefully covered.

Biscuits made up the night before set in the icebox over night and baked for breakfast will be lighter than if made and baked at once.

When making biscuits, if you happen to forget the salt, after getting them ready to bake, just sprinkle a little salt on them, top and bottom, and they will be all right.

I always mix my pie crust with sweet milk and pour a few teaspoonfuls on top of pies. Makes them flaky and brown.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1)—I am a widow aged 40, but retain much of my young appearance. A young man of 25 is very much in love with me. He is wise for us to marry. Would his affection be lasting? (2)—What would be the most appropriate color for my wedding dress? (3)—What good hair dye would you suggest?

B. S.

(1)—When you are 50, he will be only 35, young looking and attractive to other women while you will look old and have no attraction for other men. Do you want to risk that? It is a hard test for a young man's affection. (2)—Gray is appropriate. (3)—Do not begin to deceive by dyeing your hair. Keep it clean and well brushed and it will be the most becoming frame for your face.

(1)—Tell him you didn't think he was going to be silly and that you expected to be treated with proper respect. (2)—Plenty of soap and warm water. Clean your face with a good cold cream every night. After washing the face apply this mixture: 10 grains salicylic acid, 1 dram alcohol, 1 ounce lard. Eat plenty of good food and keep the bowels in good condition. Don't eat rich gravies, pastries or candies.

(3)—Put a tablespoonful of gum tragacanth in 3 tins water. Let soak over night, add half a cup of warm water and use on your hands.

"MUTT AND JEFF" IS A LIGHT DIVERSION

Caperings of Bud Fisher Caricatures in Musical Comedy Setting
Pleases Large Audience.

Caperings and coverings of Mut and Jeff, the cartoon creation of Bud Fisher, in a musical comedy setting, pleased a fair sized audience at the Myers theatre last evening. Quips and jokes of a somewhat antique nature sounded funny when drawn by the grotesque Mut and Jeff, and the antics of the little Jeff, a part well taken by Shorty DeWitt, were really mirth-provoking.

Of the other characters of the piece, Harry Hoyt, as Jack Weyler, possessed a good voice and sang with expression the popular favorite composed by Joseph Howard, "Just a Little Smile." Although this was the song hit of the production, Norma Bell, as Dorothy, offered several selections which were pleasing and brought forth applause.

A rather gaily-dressed chorus was much in evidence and performed with considerable grace and sang with forceful expression. The production seemed to be well managed and ranked higher than several others which have been seen here this season.

Gassy Stomach Endangers the Heart

Gas and Other Forms of Indigestion
Are Quickly Relieved by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Indigestion, food forms gas in the stomach, which causes the walls of that organ to expand and press against the heart. If this pressure should be allowed to become heavy it might result very seriously, as the heart must be kept perfectly free in order to perform its duties.

If the stomach is overworked, its muscles become tired and gradually grow weaker and weaker, until they are unable to take care of the food properly. The glands fail to provide the juices necessary to digest the food. Gases form and cause all sorts of pain, misery and weakness, as well as extreme danger to the heart.

It is then that the stomach calls for help. Ordinary medicines are impossible. They not only fail to help the stomach but injure the entire system. Medical men have studied the stomach and have discovered that the digestive juices consist largely of pepsin, hydrochloric acid and nitrogenous ferments. What, then, would be more natural than to supply these properties artificially when the stomach is unable to produce them?

That is the object of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. These powerful little agents relieve the stomach of its burden, thereby giving it an opportunity to regain its normal strength. They tone up, strengthen and revitalize the secretory glands, mucous membranes, absorbing glands and muscular walls. They restore to the stomach its lost powers of digestion so that it can again do its work without assistance. They contain, in a concentrated form, every element necessary to digest all sorts of food, whether acid or alkaline.

If you experience an oppressive feeling just inside the lower end of your breast bone and extending upward towards your heart, do not hesitate on instant. Get Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets from the nearest druggist at once and take one. In a few minutes the pain will leave you and you will feel better. Take a tablet after each meal for several days and your stomach will once more perform its duties. All druggists sell them at 50c a box.

CHURCH GATHERING BIGGEST EVER HELD

Six Hundred Attend Anniversary and Home Gathering of Cargill Memorial Methodist Episcopal Church.

"The biggest and most successful ever held," is the unanimous opinion of those who last night attended the anniversary celebration and home gathering of the Cargill Memorial Methodist Episcopal church. Not less than six hundred people—men, women and children—a number equal to the registered membership of the church were served supper in the church basement and enjoyed the entertainment that followed, completely filling the auditorium and a good part of the adjoining Sunday school room. Invitations had been sent to all members of the congregation and to as many of those who were regular attendants as could be reached, but up to five o'clock only 384 acceptances had been received. Those that came in after that time swelled the number rapidly. Five hundred and thirty-four plates were set, and although the caterers were taken by surprise all were served promptly and without the least confusion. With the waiters the number given their supper was about six hundred.

Present and past were symbolized in the two parts of the program given, the first being the more formal, and the latter a succession of surprises and mirth-provoking numbers that gave especial pleasure to those of the older generation.

The united choir, directed by Miss E. Sewell, sang with excellent effect the "Anvil Chorus" with vocal accompaniment, and the soul-stirring "Pillgrim's Chorus." Mrs. Thomas sang two very pleasing solos, the audience indicating by its sustained applause that an encore was desired. No less pleasing were the duets of Mr. and Mrs. F. Doane, "Lord I Have Loved the Habitation of Thy House" and "Love's Dream is O'er." Dr. S. F. Richard's voice was at its best, conveying the vigorous exaltation of "The Two Grenadiers" equally well with the sweetness and emotional appeal of "I Hear You Calling Me." The Lotus quartet sang two numbers that well merited the applause given. The musical reading, "Lascia," by Mrs. T. W. Nuzum, the only number of its kind on the program, was given with well modulated voice and faultless enunciation. Mrs. F. T. Richards, as accompanist for the vocal solos and choruses of the latter half of the program, and in the organ selection, Mendelssohn's "Spring Song," received enthusiastic approval. Presiding Elder Reynolds stated some interesting facts concerning the history of the church, lightened with his usual gift of anecdote.

With the opening of the second half of the program the endeavor was turned back three generations. The choir attired in the costumes of long ago, and led by "Baton Jacobs"—"Tymist and Stickwagner"—sang the almost forgotten songs that cheered our grandmothers and grandfathers. The numbers on this program, each of which was received with enthusiasm, were: "Greets Chorus—"Strike ye Cymbal!" By the Choir

"The Tinker's Song"—High Soaring Van Pool

Single Song and Chorus—"The Quaker Maidens"

"Grandma's Advice"—Mrs. Warbler Taylor

"Janesville Street Cries"—Choir

"Dost Thou Love Me Sister Rith"—Pearlie Hall and Frankie Doane

"Cousin Jediah"—Charlie Collett and Chorus

"Comin' Thro' the Rye"—Perseverance Sewell

"Old Grimes is Dead"—Choir

"Auld Lang Syne."

SIDEWALK SKETCHES

WHISKERS.

(By Howard L. Rana.)

Whiskers.

Whiskers are a relic of the stone age, which are occasionally resorted to as a disguise by men who are trying to live down a checkered past.

They are caused by allowing the hair to grow in wild profusion wherever it can get a foothold on the human countenance and then fall in a dejected attitude upon the owner's soiled front.

Some men run heavily to whiskers and unphilosophically allow both to grow with great rapidity. For some reason or other, patent medicine venders and the cure-all doctor who holds forth on the four corners affect a highly impressive brand of whiskers, through which they converse at the rate of sixty miles an hour. When a high-toned professional man with a full beard sees one of these fakirs going at top speed and making impassionate gestures with his whiskers, he will part with his beard without a qualm.

Whiskers were discovered and put into daily use long before the safety razor advertisements appeared in the magazines. This is shown by the fact that nobody ever saw an authentic picture of a patriarch without anything on his face but a goatee or a mustache. It was considered a badge of honor to sprout a set of self-folding whiskers which could be rolled up in a great wad and thrust carelessly inside the vest of the sproutee. The only way an ancient patriarch could get ready for church Sunday morning was to stand off at a distance and allow his wife to comb his whiskers with a garden rake.

Of recent years the whisker industry in this country is about as prosperous as owning a republican campaign button factory. Nobody thinks of going out in the evening with whiskers. Thousands of men who formerly were able to conceal a large, pink mole with whiskers now have to resort to black court-plaster. Whenever you meet a man whose face is studied with thick, interlacing whiskers, you can be sure that he ran into a barbed wire fence in early youth and contracted an assortment of scars which he would be willing to trade for a second-hand bedstead.

DOINGS OF THE VAN LANS. Mrs. Chamberlain's Mother gets proficient.

The STOLEN SINGER

by MARTHA BELLINGER

Aleck Van Camp, appearing round the corner of the house, made elaborate bows to the two ladies.

"Good morning, Miss Redmond!" He greeted her cordially, plainly glad to see her. "I slept the sleep of the blessed up there in your fragrant loft. Good morning, Miss Reynier!" He walked over and formally took Melanie's hand for an instant. "I knew it was deuced that you two should be friends," he went on, in his deliberate way. "In fact, I've been waiting for the moment when I could have the pleasure of introducing you myself, and here you have managed to dispense with my services altogether. But let me escort you into the house. Sallie says her raised biscuits are all ready for luncheon."

Agatha, looking at her new friend's vivid face, saw that Mr. Van Camp was not an unwelcome addition to their number. She had a quick superstitious feeling of happiness at the thought that the old red house, gathering elements of joy about its roof, was her possession and her home.

"I've promised to show Miss Reynier some queer old books after luncheon," she said.

Aleck wrinkled his brow. "I'll try not to be jealous of them."

CHAPTER XIX.

Mr. Chamberlain, sleuth.

Unknown to himself, Mr. Chamberlain possessed the soul of a conspirator. Leaving Aleck Van Camp at the crisp edge of the day, he fell into deep thought as he walked toward the village. As he reviewed the information he had received, he came more and more to adopt Agatha's cause as his own, and his spirit was fanned into the glow incident to the chase.

He walked briskly over the country road, descended the steep hill, turning over the facts, as he knew them, in his mind. By the time he reached Charlesport, he regarded his honor as a gentleman involved in the capture of the Frenchman. His knowledge of the methods of legal prosecutions, even in his own country, was extremely hazy. He had never been in a situation, in his hitherto peaceful career, in which it had been necessary to appeal to the law, either on his own behalf or on that of his friends.

Legal processes in America were even less known to him, but he was not daunted on that account. He remembered Sherlock Holmes and Raffles; he recalled Bill Sykes and DuBois, dodging the operations of justice; and in that romantic chamber that lurks somewhere in every man's make-up, he felt that classic tradition had armed him with all the preparation necessary for heroic achievement. He, Chamberlain, was unexpectedly called upon to act as an agent of justice against chicanery and violence, and it was not in him to shrink the task. His labors, which, for the greater part of his life, had been expended in tracing the evolution of wild fish in inland caves, had not especially fitted him for dealing with the details of such a case as Agatha's; but they had left him eminently well equipped for discerning right principles and embracing them.

Chamberlain's first move was to visit his Simon, who directed him to the house of the justice of the peace, Israel Cady. Squire Cady, in his shirt-sleeves and wearing an old faded cap, was in his side yard endeavoring to coax the fruit down gently from a flourishing pear tree.

"You wait just a minute, if you please, until I get these two plump pears down, and I'll be right there," he called courteously, without looking away from his long-handled wire scoop.

Mr. Chamberlain strolled into the yard, and after watching Squire Cady's exertions for a minute or two, offered to assist the pole himself.

"That's a prissy steady hand to get those big ones off without bruising them," cautioned the squire.

But Chamberlain's hand was steady.

got the right man," he answered. "If I find him and bring him to the old red house this afternoon, so that Miss Redmond can identify him, will you have a sheriff ready to serve the warrant?"

"Yes, I can do that."

"Very well, then, and thank you, sir," said Chamberlain, moving toward the door. "And I'm keen on hearing how you got even with Mr. Thayer on the Horace."

The light behind the squire's parchment face gleamed a moment.

"Come back, my boy, when you've done your duty by the law. Every citizen should be a protector as well as a keeper of the law. So come again; the latch-string is always out."

It was mid-morning before the details connected with the sheriff were completed. By this time Chamberlain's heavy but sound temperament had lifted itself to its task, gaining momentum as the hours went by. His next step was to search out the Frenchman. The meager information obtained the day before was to the effect that the marooned yachtowner had taken refuge in one of the shacks near the granite docks in the upper part of the village. He had persuaded the caretaker of the sailors' reading room to lend him money with which to telegraph to New York, as the telegraph operator had refused to trust him.

It was not difficult to get on his track, even though the village people were constitutionally reluctant to let any unnecessary information get away from them. A mile or so farther up the shore, beyond the road that ran like a scar across the hill to the granite quarry, Chamberlain came upon a saloon masquerading as a grocery store. A lodging house, a seaman's berth and the reading room were grouped near by; the telegraph office, too, had been placed at this end of the town; obviously for the convenience of the operators of the granite quarry. The settlement had the appearance of easy-going and pleasant industry peculiar to places where handwork is still the rule.

Chamberlain applied first at the grocery store without getting satisfaction. The foreign looking boy, who was the only person visible, could give him no information about anything. But at the reading room the erstwhile yacht owner was known. Borrowing money is a sure method of impressing one's personality.

The Frenchman had been in the neighborhood two or three days, lately becoming very impatient for a reply to his New York telegram. A good deal of money had been applied for, was the opinion of the money-lender. This person, caretaker and librarian, was a tall, ineffective individual, with eyes set wide apart. His slow speech was a mixture of Dr. Johnson and a judge in obnoxiousity. He was grandiloquent, and it often took long to reach the point. He informed Chamberlain, with some circumlocution, that the Frenchman had been extremely anxious over the telegram.

He tried to persuade him that it was useless to be impatient over such things," said he. "And I regret to say that the man allowed himself to become profane."

"I dare say."

"But it would appear that he has received his telegram by this time," continued the youth, "for it is now but a short time since he was summoned to the station."

Chamberlain, thinking that the sooner he got to the telegraph station the better, was about to depart, when the placid tones of the librarian again casually broke the silence.

"If I mistake not, the gentleman in question is even now hastening toward the village." He waved a vague hand toward the open door through which, a little distance away, a man's figure could be seen.

"Why don't you run after him and get your money?" asked Chamberlain; but he didn't know the youth.

"What good would that do?" was the surprising question, which Chamberlain could not answer.

But the Englishman acted on a different principle. He thanked the judge in chancery and made after the Frenchman, who was casting a furtive eye in this and that direction, as if in doubt which way he ought to go. Nevertheless, he seemed bent on going, and not too slowly, either.

The Englishman swung into the road, but did not endeavor to overtake the other. They were traveling toward the main village, along a road that more or less hugged the shore. Sometimes it topped a cliff that dropped precipitately into the water; and again it descended to a sandy level that was occasionally reached by the higher tides.

Near the main village the road ascended a rather steep bluff, and at the top made a sudden turn toward the town. As Chamberlain approached this point, he yielded more and more to the beauty of the scene. The Bay of Charlesport, the rugged, curving outline of the coast beyond, the green islands, the glistening sea, the blue crystalline sky over all—it was a sight to remember.

Not far from the land, at the near end of the harbor, was the Sea Gull, pulling at her mooring. A stone's throw beyond Chamberlain's feet, a small rocky tongue of land was prolonged by a stone breakwater, which sheltered the curved beach of the village from the rougher waves. Close up under the bluff on which he was standing, the waters of the bay churned and foamed against a steep rock wall that shot downward to unknown depths. It was obviously a dangerous place, though the road was unguarded by fence or railing.

Only a delicate fringe of goldenrod and low juniper bushes veiled the treacherous cliff edge. It was almost impossible for a traveler, unused to the region, to pass across the dizzy stretch of highway without a shuddering glance at the murderous waves below.

"Too wit, too wit!" said the bird to me.

As I gathered her to my heart; It was quite, quite close to the shining sea.

And her hair was fixed with a great dipper was out, and someone had turned on the moon.

Geraldine and Fred were sitting on the sofa.

And the minister and his wife were sitting on the sofa. Yet—

Ered suddenly slid one arm around Geraldine's waist and squeezed her to him so closely that Geraldine gave a sweet little gasp, expressive of pleased surprise and just a suspicion of coyness.

You wouldn't think, even though they had been engaged for a week and two days, that they would do that with the minister and his wife on the sofa.

Looking Geraldine squarely in the eye, Fred said sternly: "Oos little derl is 'oo!" and Geraldine answered modestly, "Coss," whereupon Fred gathered her in his arms and gave her a kiss and she gave him a kiss at one and the same time, so that neither could really be said to have started it. And you wouldn't think they would do that with the minister and his wife on the sofa.

Unless, of course, you happened to know that two sofas in two different rooms have been alluded to all along.

The new administration will now administer; the people of this nation will have to pay the freight. The president is hoping to see reforms begin, and many sports are doting the president to win. For he is wise and eager to help the toiling mass, which now subsists on meagre soups and garden snails. He hopes for equal justice between the poor and rich, relief from laws that bust us, from grinding woes and sighs, for the worthy compensation to the new those of low estate; the new administration will now administer. Alas, that high ambition to ease the people's load, to better man's condition, must tread a rocky road! There's small enthusiasm when great reforms rise; the people have a span and turn suspicious eyes upon the statesman during who'd leave the beaten path; they crowd around him swearing and ventilate their wrath. They say, "This fellow bothers the people with his fuss! The customs of our fathers were good enough for us!" Full many a verbal storm or tornado will he meet, and so the sad reformer soon goes on frigid feet. There's little consolation for him who'd save the state. The new administration will now administer.

HEALTH HINTS

Sodium Phosphate is a liver stimulant. It increases the flow of bile which is necessary to the proper digestion of food. Bile also stimulates bowel action. A good many forms of indigestion and constipation are promptly relieved by a few doses of Effervescent Sodium Phosphate taken before breakfast each morning. Jaundice or yellow skin, headaches, dizziness, sour stomach, and other complaints can be traced to the liver. Stimulate the liver and the trouble is gone. Sodium Phosphate that has always been sold at 50c a bottle for a few days we will sell at 25c a bottle. Get it today. Give it a trial. You will be much pleased.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville, Daily Gazette, March 5, 1873.—Tobacco House Robbed: Last night the tobacco house of Miles McDermott, in the town of Janesville, was entered by thieves and some 3,500 pounds of tobacco stolen. They were particular to take Mr. McDermott's choicest wrapper lots, which makes the loss a severe one for him. It was a bold undertaking and so skillfully managed that as yet there has been no clue discovered.

The railroad accident near Oshkosh, noticed in our state items occurred to conductor McCabe's train.
